National cultural remembrance

In the register of modern architecture in Slovakia are three swimming pools. All three are cultural remembrance because of its importance as functionalistic building. More light, air and sun, that was one of the main motto of modern architecture. It was logic, that as the modernity became of the summer swimming pools. These became challenges for the architects. The first was built in Piešťany – swimming pool EVA (1933-1934), then ZELENÁ ŽABA in Trenčianske Teplice (1935 – 1936) and in the same time there was built in Košice the third swimming pool, remarkable and technically unique swimming pool. This was designed by Košice native L. Oelschläger, from German-Hungarian family (1896-1984) in its most significant creative time. He had created in Czechoslovakia within 20 years almost 70 projects and in Košice there are still houses with his marks, wherever anyone comes. His pieces of work are examples of how the new architecture comes to historical surrounding with some humbleness and non-aggressive elegance. “Each entrance to his building is great experience with the most festive feelings for its users as well as fans. And this is how the real architecture should be!” stated authors of the first important publication about this Košice’s native, Adriana Priatková and Peter Pásztor.

Legendary swimming pool Červená hviezda is after the big reconstruction. The city of Košice was the investor with more than 4 millions EUR. Due this, it was non-available for sportmen of swimming sports and for public for 8 years, but later it was reconstructed for 11 months and re-opened in summer 2016. There had been reconstructed original changing rooms, administrative building, swimming pools for swimmers and non-swimmers and children’s swimming pool. There had been added also hypermodern stainless swimming pool, which may be cross-divided, extend or shorten, e.g. for 25 m swimming pool (for swimming competition) or for 33 m (for water polo). The capacity of the whole area is 1200 persons. Today there is modern background and technology for preparation and heating of water in swimming pools. In Košice it presents the biggest water area for sport activities and relax.

In two previous years of championship, there had been 500 Masters participants from more than 100 clubs and 10 European countries. Except for many national records on this championship, there had been achieved one EUROPEAN and one WORLD record! One of the goals of the Masters community is to organise Masters championship on the high international, sport and social level, but the another one is also realisation of the PROJECT – CZECHOSLOVAKIA SWIMMING MASTERS HISTORY. This project is unique by its character and aim. It provides possibility of interconnection and help in international promotion of club's swimming history, mainly its biggest personalities – swimmers, trainers and officers. Year 2019 will be special due celebration of 100 years anniversary of Czechoslovak amateur swimming association. Additionally, in Košice there are many things to see and to be presented to the world. Our aim is to present different exhibitions as “old men” in water polo, synchronised swimming and evening swimming of old swimmers from Košice, but also awarding of gold plaques for the contribution to development of swimming sports in Slovakia.

Why we had decided to move this this important championship from Šamorín to Košice? There were several reasons for such decision. The one was fact, the high quality of reconstructed Swimming pool – swimming area Červená Hviezda, which fulfils highest international parameters. It is also national cultural remembrance, which contributes to underline the whole idea of above-mentioned project. Airport, great train and bus connections, sufficient accommodation capacities in different price levels, technical support ... but mainly swimming enthusiasts and officers as Mgr. Radoslav Sabol, Mgr. Ivan Šulek, Juraj Skála, Zuzana Jusková, Erika Mrázová with whole Masters team, who had promised actively participated on preparation and realisation, are guarantee of the successful and well-organised event.
